Falls Prevention

Preventing a patient from falling while in the hospital is a team effort. The team includes staff, patients, families, and visitors. To address this issue, any patient who is identified as a medium or high fall risk will have a picture of a falling leaf at the head of their bed. It tells the staff, family and visitors that extra care needs to be taken for safety. Watch for more information on WRH's Fall Prevention strategy. Everyone has a job to do in preventing patient falls and keeping our patients safe.
